Mobile Readiness Checks

I perform various tests on a Web Page to determine its level of mobile-friendliness. This Spring Google will be making significant changes to its algorithms, making Mobile Friendliness an important consideration. This change will be rolling out globally over the next few weeks.

A page is eligible for the “mobile-friendly” label if it meets the following criteria as detected by Googlebot:

- Avoids software that is not common on mobile devices, like Flash
- Uses text that is readable without zooming
- Sizes content to the screen so users don't have to scroll horizontally or zoom
- Places links far enough apart so that the correct one can be easily tapped
